DETAILED ACTION

1. The Amendment filed November 9, 2004 has been entered. Claims 1-12 are currently pending with claims 5-11 being withdrawn from further consideration as being drawn to a non-elected species.

Election/Restrictions

2. The originally filed claims were directed to the genus of applying energy to create a homogeneous composition and the following species of "energy":

- (a) short pulse
- (b) pressure drop
- (c.) shearing stress
- (d) adiabatic boil
- (e) hydraulic energy
- (f) electromagnetic wave

3. Now the currently amended claims are directed to the following patentably distinct species of "discrete short pulses of energy" of the claimed invention:

- (a) pressure change
- (b) adiabatic flashing
- (c) hydraulic impact
- (d) pressure shock wave
- (e) shear stress
- (f) local turbulence

(e) cavitation

4. Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claim 1 is generic.
5. Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.
6. Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).
7. Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Specification and Claims

8. To expedite prosecution, it is noted that the originally filed application is non-enabling for “discrete short pulses” in the currently amended claims 3 and 12 and the currently amended “...short pulses of a given frequency ...” on Paragraph 5 of Page 3 under the Summary of the Invention and the Abstract. The term “short pulse” was not disclosed in the originally filed application as being “of a given frequency” in the original specification, including the abstract, or original claims 2 and 12. Furthermore, the term “short” is a relative term and is found indefinite since the originally filed application failed to define “short pulses”. However, the originally filed application is enabling for “pulses of energy at a given frequency”.
